

From: Olga Bombardelli, University of Trento, J.Monnet professor

I worry because we should have a long term view on the world scenario, and be careful in the relationship with the Russian Federation, included commercial relationship, in order to prevent power balances outside the EU, like China and Russian Federation allied against the EU.

Especially I suggest to improve the information system, in order to collect data useful for decision making, listening to all interpretation in order to be more balanced and prevent too big risks, especially in Ukraine.